

I'm always looking for newer square dance level round dances and came across a dance that had recently been published on Roundalab. "The Darkest Hour" sang by Ricky Skaggs is a beautiful choreographed waltz by Roger and Rosemary Latchaw. The dance is one of encouragement for us all to remember the darkest time is right before dawn and the narrow way leads home. Ricky is an amazing artist who at the age of 5 was playing the mandolin, by age 6 played with the legendary Bill Monroe and by age 7 was on TV. His talent is certainly a gift from God. "The Darkest Hour" is a Phase II waltz and the music can be purchased from iTunes.
